Youth and Family Ambassador Program

Thank you for your interest in Foundry's Youth and Family Ambassador (YFA) program, an exciting community-based, nation-wide initiative designed to provide a space for youth and families interested in, and working toward, the development of Integrated Youth Services (IYS) in their communities.

Foundry operates in British Columbia as part of the IYS movement in Canada to build effective, youth-focused and integrated services for mental health, substance use and related issues. While each IYS organization is adapted to its specific regional needs, they all operate within the same core principles, including youth and family participation in the design and implementation of services, integration of services across service providers, continuity of services, stepped-care models that are evidence-based, online and technology based services and a strong research and evaluation guide.

Through this program you will have a unique opportunity to contribute to the transformation of these services in your community, whether that means building a wellness centre or starting a community dialogue. You will participate in an interconnected network for IYS advocacy, sharing your experiences with other ambassadors across the country.
